HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK

President John Goodridge presenting Regency Park Rotary Wine Glasses following an excellent tour of the Electrolux factory at Dudley Park on Tuesday afternoon. It was extraordinary to hear that it is the only remaining white-goods factory in Australia and that each day it produces approximately 1400 stoves of various types predominantly for the Australasian market. Those present were treated to a very generous light lunch prior to the tour. Thanks John, a design engineer for Electrolux, for organising the event.

LIVING WITH DEMENTIA

That same evening, we were treated to an excellent presentation by Ian Gladstone regarding Dementia. Ian was diagnosed with early onset dementia following a stroke at 58 and now, at the age of 70, gave us a highly informative talk about his own personal journey as well as the huge range of types of and challenges arising from the individual nature of this condition.

In recent weeks it has been a treat for several of the club members to reengage with former member and Friend, Trevor Berry, who himself, with his family, has been experiencing his own journey with dementia. Trevor has been joining the Friday walking group and adding to the great conversations which are such a significant part of this event.

See below for details of the final walk for this month
